RAILROAD NOTES.

Detectives Jim Hendricks, of the Louisville detective force, and Tim Gorley, of the Illinois Central railroad, raided a deserted barn near the Louisville almshouse Friday night, and recovered over $2000 worth of property, the accumulation of several weeks of systematic robbery of the Illinois Central freight cars. The railroad officials have been greatly troubled of late over systematic robbery of their cars between South Louisville and the almshouse. The detectives who were put on the case were at first completely baffled. Two days ago a clue was secured, which resulted in the recovery of the stolen property. The two detectives are close on the trail of the robbers and expect to land them soon.

Conductor Will E. Baker, of the city, who has been running on the Evansville division of the Illinois Central, was called to Evansville Saturday by a telegram that his wife, who has been on a visit there for some time, had presented him with two fine boy babies.

Pickett, a colored I. C. Central, was brought to the I. C. Central by a telegram that his wife, who has been on a visit there for some time, had presented him with two fine boy babies.

NEWS FROM FRANKFORT.

Democratic Candidates Getting Ready For the Next Senatorial Campaign—Gov.
Brown May Enter.

Senator Goebel's Chances For the Gubernatorial Nomination
Good—Rumored That
Bradley May Run.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 20.—The effort to bring ex-Gov. John Young Brown into the governor's race is just what Jo Blackburn's friends have wanted for some time, as they have known that the former governor was priming his guns for a try at the senatorial target. It has been thought here that the most dangerous opponent Blackburn would have to fear was Mr. Brown with Congressman John B. Rhea, of the Third district looming up as a dark horse who could count on a good, safe following before the race opened. The announcement of strained relations between Rhea and Blackburn is but ancient history revamped by penny-antlers who were out of something political to write about. Politicians recall the fact that during Rhea's hot fight against Dr. Hunter, Senator Blackburn never once made an effort to aid the distinguished orator of Logan county, but it is said by some that Blackburn didn't think Rhea stood a ghost of a show and turned his attention to the Eighth district in a herculean effort to elect John B. Thompson to Congress. What money Rhea got was raised by Committee Woodson, who was set to get but a few hundred and Rhea ran practically without any help from any source, and won. His friends think, although Dr. Hunter is now prosecuting a contest. It is said by the knowing ones that Rhea will not forget this, and being ambitious, and withal popular, he will be in at the finish in the Senatorial struggle. So will John Young Brown, the vaporings of alleged wisecracks to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mayor Wewer, of Louisville, has just appointed Mr. R. Lee Suter to a good place on the city executive board, and this removes from the Louisville congressional race the only announced candidate for the democratic nomination, although efforts are being made to induce ex-Gov. Brown to enter this race and quit the senatorial scramble, and if he does he will be a strong candidate. Judge Sterling B. Toney, of the law and equity court, and Col. W. B. Fleming, ex-state central chairman, are regarded as suitable congressional candidates, although it is argued by some democrats that both are too white metal to carry the democratic party. The one who can win the relations between the two parties of the district is the one who can win the relations between the two parties of the district.

MORE NEW LOCOMOTIVES.

The Illinois Central Gets Two
More Monster Passenger Engines—Used on the Memphis Division.

The Night Runs of Conductors
Changed From Louisville to Memphis—Other Railroad News.

The new time card on the Illinois Central went into effect yesterday, and the "Cannon ball" No. 203 arrived on time to the second this morning.

The company yesterday brought in for use between Memphis and Paducah two brand new eight-wheel locomotives with steamboat whistles. These monster machines went into use last night, and are among the biggest and fastest locomotives in the country. They are decorated in gold, and increase the company's number of big passenger engines from six to eight. Six of these have been in use between Louisville and Paducah for some time. The two new ones will be run between Paducah and Memphis.

Last night Engineer Pat Hogan came from Mayfield to Paducah in twenty-six minutes, a distance of twenty-four miles. The run averaged less than a mile a minute, as the train was under the shed at the Union depot in twenty-six minutes, and Mayfield is twenty-five miles, not including the distance from the yards here to the Union depot.

Beginning today the conductors on the Illinois Central "Cannon ball," which go through Paducah early every morning, will run from Louisville to Memphis, instead of Louisville to Fulton. The change is made because the time made is so good that the otherwise long run is thus made very short.

"I remember a few years ago," remarked an old railroad man today, "when Engineer Joe Randall made a run from Louisville to Memphis in twelve hours the Courier-Journal and all the other big papers heralded it as a remarkably good run. Now we all make it in about ten hours, and by gum," he concluded, "we ain't satisfied yet."

GORED TO DEATH AT A BULL FIGHT.

An American and Three Mexican Spectators Killed at Guadalajara.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 20.—A letter was received here from J. T. Dimmitt, stating that his son, Lawrence Dimmitt, a mining engineer of Rosario, Mex., was fatally gored by a bull while attending a bull fight at Guadalajara last Sunday. The maddened bull leaped over the wall separating the amphitheater from the ring, trampling under foot the panic-stricken spectators, Mexicans of the lower class, who were seated on the unprotected benches nearest the wall. Three spectators, the letter said, were gored to death, and the bull made its way to the boxes, where it caught Dimmitt and ran one of its horns through his chest. Two of the guards dispatched the animal with sabers. Dimmitt was taken to the Hospicio Municipal, where he succumbed to his injuries Monday night. The Jefe Politico of the district has ordered an investigation.

GONE WRONG.

Has Another Good Insurance Man of Louisville.

Louisville, Dec. 20.—Joseph Clarke, one of the best known and most successful life insurance solicitors ever known here, has been absent from the city the past two weeks. Several irregular transactions are said to have been brought to light since his departure. Clarke was until a month ago employed by the New York Life, and Mr. Noble, the local manager of the company, says his company will lose nothing by Clarke, as they made him pay everything before he left. Officers of the German Insurance bank say that a check for $2000, drawn by C. Mengel, Jr., in favor of the New York Life Insurance Company was cashed by Clarke without authority, and that the bank will lose that amount. Clarke is now in New York, and it is said that he has gone there to make a contract with another insurance company.

DEMOCRACY'S LATEST.

The Louisville Dispatch says:

The new constitution of South Carolina, which goes into effect January 1, 1898, requires the voter to be able to show to the satisfaction of the registration officer that he is able to read and write. That will practically eliminate the negro vote of South Carolina, and some such qualification will have to be eventually adopted in all the states having a large negro population as a matter of self-defense. It may be done by constitutional provision, or it may be done by statutes. In Kentucky we may approximate the matter by leaving off the emblems from the ballots, and that ought to be done.

In other words the negro must be disfranchised because he is a negro. Such is the length to which the party of free silver is willing to go, and the legitimate result of the Chicago platform as expressed by Bryan, Altgeld, Tillman, Blackburn and others. If the Democratic party desires to add treason to their platform in 1900 and go before the country upon the question of disfranchising the negro, the Republican party will gladly take up the gauntlet. The Constitution of the United States is a thing not to be trifled with; and a party that proposes to trample it in the dust as that party has already proposed to rob the courts of their independence, and to despoil private ownership of property of its sanctity, such a party will not merely be defeated at the polls, it will be destroyed.

It is barely possible that the next time a man is brought before Judge Falconer, of Lexington, for slaying the destroyer of his home, that the Judge will not render his "higher law" decision. It seems that Jacob Harris, who shot Thos. H. Merritt for destroying his home and happiness, in that he had caught the said Merritt in a compromising position with his wife, has reconsidered the proposition, and has concluded that his home was not entirely destroyed. Harris has forgiven his erring wife and is again living with her. This strange and unlooked for action on the part of Harris has caused a revolution of feeling in Lexington, and Harris accordingly languishes in jail under an indictment for murder, and not being able to give bond, Harris will have to stand trial; he will possibly be convicted, as the only arguments in his defense are but appeals in various ways to the sympathies of the jury, and public opinion is now against the alleged criminal. Should conviction follow, however, the penalty imposed or the verdict rendered Streeter Adams, colored cook at the county jail, was the victim of a painful accident on North Third street, between Broadway and Jefferson, Saturday night. He fell into the sewerage trench, but hit bottom at a depth of eight feet. His back was wrenched and an arm had a narrow escape from being broken, and although he cried lustily for help, no one happened to be near, and was compelled to get out the best way he could. He complained at police headquarters that there was no light at the point where he took the tumble.
